READING EXHIBIT ONLINE (ReadEx Online)

1. In line with Department of Education Memorandum, DM-CI-2020-00-062, re: ReadEx Online; and Regional Memorandum No. 229, s. 2020, re: Conduct of Regional Reading Exhibit Online, this office hereby urged all school districts to submit at least one (1) storytelling video, one (1) audiobook narration and one (1) multimedia presentation using the Bureau of Learning Resources-Learning Resource Management Section (BLR-LRMS) Reading Treasury.
2. This activity aims to:
 - a. Promote reading and listening among Filipino learners by presenting interesting and original stories from teachers;
 - b. Augment adaptive resources that can address learning competencies amidst crisis; and
 - c. Showcase storybooks made by teachers by presenting through storytelling, audiobook narration, and multimedia learning.
3. All school districts are encouraged to submit at least three (3) resources in three (3) different formats to celieto.magsayo@deped.gov.ph not later than July 10, 2020.
4. Enclosed are the mechanics of this reading exhibit and titles of storybooks.
5. Immediate and wide dissemination of this memorandum is enjoined.

GUIDELINES ON THE CONDUCT OF READING EXHIBIT ONLINE

Rationale:

Adaptability to current situations is one component in addressing the elements of Education 4.0 (i.e., volatility, uncertainty, complexity, ambiguity, and disruptiveness). Pandemic and other health crises that cause class disruptions call for adaptive programs that can address basic literacy and numeracy skills among beginning learners. The BLR, having established its turf in developing storybooks and other activities in its reading treasury, is launching the Reading Exhibit Online (ReadEx Online), a platform for teachers to showcase storytelling and multimedia presentation as ways of alternative and supplementary learning.

Objectives:

1. To promote reading and listening to Filipino learners by presenting interesting and original stories by teachers;
2. To augment adaptive resources that can address learning competencies amidst crisis; and
3. To showcase storybooks made by teachers by presenting through storytelling, audiobook narration, and multimedia learning.

General Guidelines:

1. ReadEx Online is open to all teachers, non-teaching personnel, and learners.
2. Collaboration of up to three participants in one presentation is allowed.
3. Only the official entries submitted to the first volume of the National Competition on Storybook Writing (First, Second, and Third Editions) shall be utilized. The official titles are attached herein as Enclosure 2.
4. Trial Versions of the First Edition storybooks are accessible via the DepEd Commons and Globe eLibrary.
5. Drafts of the Second Edition and Third Edition storybooks may be requested from the Learning Resources Management Section (LRMS) of the regional and division offices.
6. Drafts of these storybooks may also be requested from writers and/or illustrators reflected on Enclosure 2.
7. ReadEx Online comprises the following activities: (1) Storytelling Sessions, (2) Audiobook Narration, and (3) Multimedia Presentation.
8. No ready-to-print copies (PDF, editable, or eBook versions) shall be developed, submitted, or circulated.
9. Rights to all submissions are concurrent and non-exclusive to both the creators and the DepEd-BLR.
10. The rights of the source materials - the storybooks submitted to the National Competition on Storybook Writing - remain with DepEd-BLR. Any usage in activities beyond ReadEx Online is prohibited.
11. Certificates of Participation will be forwarded to the Regional LRMS.
12. Performances and presentations may also be given Certificates of Recognition and will be displayed during the National Reading Exhibit 2020.

Mechanics for ReadEx Storytelling:

1. Storytellers shall choose a storybook from the official titles in Enclosure 2.

2. Access to the chosen storybook may be through public hosting websites (DepEd LR Portal, DepEd Commons, Globe eLibrary, etc.) or through coordination with the LRMS of respective divisions or regions.
3. Golden Seal storybooks (winning entries across all editions) may be used by all regions. Exhibit copies of these storybooks may be requested from the Regional LRMS.
4. Modification of the story to fit the requirements of storytelling is permitted.
5. The storytelling time shall not exceed eight (8) minutes. The duration shall include the following:
 - a. Brief introduction of the storyteller (name, school, division, and region);
 - b. Brief introduction of the storybook (title, writer, and illustrator; division and region); and
 - c. Book-based, interactive book-based, eBook-based, puppet, shadow play, or any other traditional or novel storytelling technique may be utilized.
6. Storytellers may use props, audience, or post-video editing elements, whichever is/are deemed necessary.
7. Storytellers shall upload their performances on their personal Facebook, YouTube accounts, or any cloud-based hosting services with the #ReadExOnline and #KuwentoNgBayanKo official hashtags.
8. Uploaded videos shall be shared in Public Setting.
9. The National Competition on Storybook Writing Page shall further promote the uploaded performances by sharing on its Official Facebook Page all tagged performances during the ReadEx Online Storytelling Sessions on weekdays.
10. Email submission to KuwentoNgBayanKo@gmail.com is also recommended.

Mechanics for Audiobook Narration:

1. Audiobook Narration is the recording of storybooks being read aloud, allowing listeners to use limited resources such as radio and audio players.
2. Narrators shall choose a storybook from the official titles in Enclosure 2.
3. Access to the chosen storybook may be through public hosting websites (DepEd LR Portal, DepEd Commons, Globe eLibrary, etc.) or through coordination with the LRMS of respective divisions or regions.
4. Golden Seal storybooks (winning entries across all editions) may be used by all regions. Exhibit copies of these storybooks may be requested from the Regional LRMS.
5. Modification of the story to fit the requirements of audiobook narration is permitted.
6. Use of descriptive words in lieu of visual images is recommended. Narrators shall consider imagination as the prime element of the presentation.
7. Audiobook narration shall not exceed eight (8) minutes. The duration shall include the following:
 - a. Brief introduction of the narrator (name, school, division, and region);
 - b. Brief introduction of the storybook (title, writer, and illustrator; division and region); and
 - c. Narration of the story using traditional or novel approaches and techniques.
8. Optional sound effects, music, and other elements shall be original or from sources made for public consumption, or otherwise licensed for commons use.
9. Mobile phones, recorders or any other recording devices may be utilized. Post-recording audio editing software may also be used.
10. To minimize background noise, it is recommended to record in an enclosed space during quiet hours.
11. Narrations shall be saved as MP3 files, playable in any audio player.
12. For the purpose of posting the audiobook on social media platforms, the cover photo of the storybook may be displayed to convert the MP3 into MP4 or video format.

13. Uploads shall be shared in Public Setting, with the #ReadExOnline and #KuwentoNgBayanKo official hashtags.
14. The National Competition on Storybook Writing Page shall further promote the uploaded performances by sharing on its Official Facebook Page all tagged performance during the ReadEx Online Storytelling Sessions on weekdays.
15. Email submission to KuwentoNgBayanKo@gmail.com is also recommended.

Mechanics for Multimedia Presentation:

1. Multimedia operationally refers to the presentation that uses more than one media and requires more than one macro skills. Interactive storybooks, narrated audiovisual storybooks, moving audiobooks, flipbooks, and animation are examples of multimedia.
2. Sound effects, music, and other elements shall be original or from sources made for public consumption, or otherwise licensed for commons use.
3. Presenting the storybook through open educational resources or open source programs is also permitted.
4. All pages shall bear the watermark "For ReadEx Purposes Only".
5. A multimedia cover page separate from the original resource cover page, bearing the name of the presenter, shall read:
 <Name of Presenter>
 Multimedia Resource Creator
6. No modification shall be done in the plot, setting, character, and characterization and any other content of the storybook.
7. Only grammar and usage may be edited.
8. The newly created multimedia shall be uploaded on a cloud-based host (Google Drive or personal YouTube and Facebook accounts with official hashtags #ReadExOnline and #KuwentoNgBayanKo) in Public Setting. The links shall be sent to the Official Facebook page of the National Competition on Storybook Writing for processing of featured list.
9. Email submission to KuwentoNgBayanKo@gmail.com is also recommended.

Logistics and Project Duration:

1. ReadEx Online shall be launched through the Official Facebook page National Competition on Storybook Writing.
2. The project will run for one month after launch. Should there be a need to continue the project or relaunch the project at a later schedule, the mentioned Facebook page shall keep everyone posted.
3. The BLR shall be in-charge of tracking submissions and processing such submissions for technical compliance.
4. All compliant submissions shall be featured on the Facebook page and shall be promoted in other DepEd platforms.
5. All eligible submissions that will pass internal evaluation may be uploaded to the Learning Resource Portal as a full-fledged learning resource, with certificate of authorship (for audiobook and multimedia) and certificate of recognition (for Storytelling). Said submissions may also be featured in the National Reading Exhibit in November 2020.
